

Leading and Working in Hybrid Teams

COVID-19 has changed how we do business in many ways. For many companies that includes moving towards a hybrid workforce that is reshaping the way we all work. Managing and working in teams that mix in-office with virtual employees introduces new and challenging issues.

This 60-minute webinar is designed to help managers and team members work effectively in a hybrid environment. By learning how to adapt communication, managers and employees can have greater return on expectations and participants can feel engaged and empowered.

Learning Objective

- Understand the importance of connecting, communicating, and collaborating in a hybrid environment
- Keep virtual employees connected and engaged with their in-office counterparts
- Avoid common mistakes when trying to coordinate in-office / at-home meetings
- Explore resilience strategies for leaders and their teams